

2013: an year of celebration and joy for all of us

The Brazilian Journal of Otorhinolaryngology (BJORL) celebrates 80 years (1933-2013) of science and progress; this means 80 years of contribution to the advancement of our specialty.

We want to pay a very special tribute to all editors who have made our journal an entity truly representative of the scientific community of otorhinolaryngologists.

We would also like to highlight the progress made in the year 2012: we hired a CEO who has provided an important support to the editorial production; shown the papers “ahead of print” at the website; and a DOI number assignment to each paper published. Additionally, our members may already have access to issues in mobile devices such as I-phones and I-pads. This is technology combined with science!

Finally, we want to thank our colleagues who participated with exemplary dedication as associate editors and reviewers in this biennium, 2011 and 2012, a period in which we won our indexing to ISI, and we wish to extend a warm welcome to new members.

Our future as a high level journal depends on each of us; thus, we count on the support from all of you, so as to increasingly have quality publications in our BJORL.

A great 2013 to all!

*Wilma Anselmo-Lima,
Associate Professor - Otorbinolaryngology
Division, Department of Ophthalmology and Otorbinolaryngology and Head and Neck Surgery -
School of Medicine of Ribeirão Preto.*

*José Eduardo Lutaif Dolci,
Full Professor and Director of the School of Medicine of Santa Casa de São Paulo.*